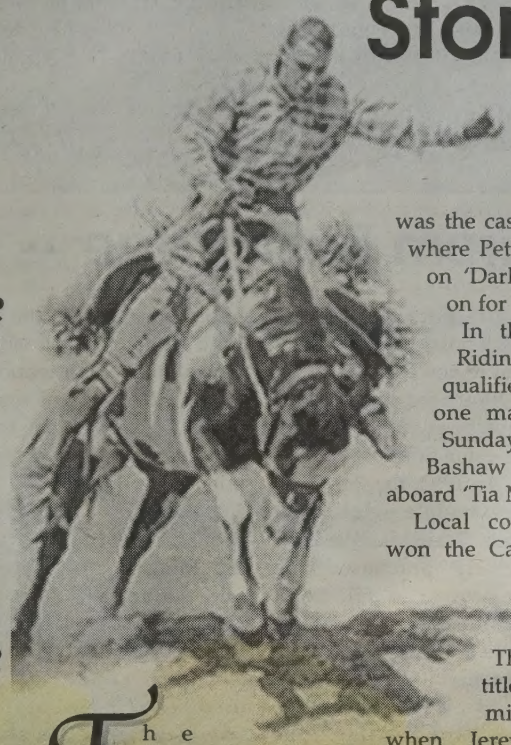
Stoney Lake stampedes in bright sunshine



The downpours which dogged the 1998 Stoney Lake Stampede were just a muddy memory this weekend, as excellent crowds gathered for the 1999 version of the annual event on a pleasant Saturday evening and a broiling hot Sunday afternoon.

The Grand Entry by the flag-bearing Stoney Lake Riders paused for a moment of silence in memory of their past president, John Kiss, who passed away recently, before completing their parade of colors.

Sunday offered some exciting rides, but many of the awards went to Saturday night's top competitors. Such was the case in the Bareback, where Peter Dyck's 71 score on 'Dark Memories' hung on for the win.

In the Novice Horse Riding, Saturday saw no qualified rides, and only one made the eight on Sunday. Darren Schultz of Bashaw marked a 69 aboard 'Tia Maria.'

Local cowboy Matt Veer won the Calf Roping with a 12.0 run Saturday night.

The Saddle Bronc title was also determined Saturday, when Jeremy Tennant of Provost scored a 71 on 'Top Gun.' Colin Paly of Thorhild topped Sunday's riders with a 68.

Steve Friend of Viking and Gord Sandercock of Duffield set the pace in Steer Wrestling on Saturday night with a pair of 3.9 scores, with Joe Gaugler of Hoselaw coming the closest on Sunday with a 4.4.

Sunday's rodeo featured a Calf Scramble for the youngsters, with Philip Bergeron and Tantheney Lawes racing home with the balloons for the prize buckles.

Junior Barrel Racing went to Karla Waltze of Vegreville, clocking in at 17.406 on Saturday night. In the Ladies Barrels, Judy Veer of Vilna scorched the cloverleaf pattern with a 16.739 run on Sunday.

Team Ropers Steven Hoff and Kevin Downey of New Norway clocked a 6.9 Saturday night, which could not be matched on Sunday.

Sunday also featured Stoney Lake's trademark insanity, the Steer and Stone Boat Race, with four teams of three attempting to rope and saddle a cow and ride it while it tows a stone boat. The trio of Jason Marcoux, Jesse Ostapovich and Troy Kachmarcyk came closest to the desired outcome to win the trophies.

In both Junior and senior Bull Riding, the bulls were the clear victors on Sunday, with every cowboy biting the dust short of the eight second mark. Junior Bull Riding went to Dustin Lyle, marking a 76 on Saturday night, while Jody Turner of Cochrane rode Red Man to a mark of 79 in the senior version at the same performance.

One of the bulls got an extra outing, as the fifth player in a brief round of kamikaze Cowboy Poker, which saw Lindsay Finnegan declared the winner.

Local reps one step closer to Trans Canada Trail

Committee beginning to form and work with neighboring regions

By Rhonda Noyce
Staff Writer

An Alberta TrailNet representative was overwhelmed by the amount of support shown for the Trans Canada Trail in this area as he watched people flow into the County of St. Paul meeting room last Tuesday night.

About 35 recreation enthusiasts and municipal representatives met for the second time in two weeks to formulate their plan in steering the national trail through the County of St. Paul.

"I'm excited to come into a group of supporters for trails," said Don Watson, senior vice president of Alberta TrailNet. "You have a very strong card in building a thriving trail system."

Alberta TrailNet is responsible for designating the Trans Canada Trail through Alberta and after Watson listened to the local group's plans for trail development, he said there was no reason why Alberta couldn't have a northern and a southern route.

This is a different answer than what the local reps received a few years ago when they proposed filling the gap in the map between the western Saskatchewan border and Edmonton.

Watson explained that they were told only one trail could pass through the province at that time — and a southern route was already marked. But now that Saskatchewan has pushed the old Carlton trail route through the North so much and there are people in northeastern Alberta who are dedicated to building the trail, there should be no reason why the trail can't be built.

Watson explained that the whole idea of a Trans Canada Trail started for two reasons: Canada's 125th birthday celebrations and an accident near Banff where seven cyclists were killed on the side of a highway.

"People wanted a safe passage and an opportunity to see the country," said Watson.

People in the County of St. Paul would like to join in on this nation-wide project and they are on to a good start. Thanks to the inroads made at the Iron Horse Trail — a 34-km multi-use trail between Heinsburg and Elk Point — the organizers now know what they are up against.

The most recent news from the length of track running through the county is that it is in the process of being sold to an American company.

A private Canadian company, RaiLink, purchased the line last summer, but since losing the fuel hauling contract in Cold Lake, the line isn't viable anymore with just grain hauling.

Fred Wilton of Alberta Community Development made the announcement about the possible American purchase during the meeting last week and said it was in the County's best interest to act quickly if they wanted to purchase the abandoned track.

Even though the rail line only follows part of the old Carlton trail, Watson reminded the group to let the trail go where it wants to go.

County of Smoky Lake representatives were also at the meeting and said they wanted to be a part of this project as well.

However, the group felt a county-wide steering committee would be the best bet for the preliminary stages of a trail. Members from the local committee could then sit on a regional committee that encompasses the entire trail.

"Our mission statement is to go from Saskatchewan to Fort Saskatchewan along the North Saskatchewan," said St. Paul Mayor John Trefanenko.

At the end of the meeting, eight people committed themselves to the steering committee, including County and Town of St. Paul reps, a Town of Elk Point rep and local recreation and historical society reps.

CRIME STOPPERS

Some time between 21:00 on 99-04-03 and 06:00 on 99-04-04 suspects broke into the Hilltop Services Gas Station located on Highway 41 in Elk Point. Stolen was a 200-400 lbs. grey safe on wheels which contained cash, cheques and credit slips.

Anyone with information is asked to call Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-TIPS (8477) or the Elk Point RCMP Detachment at (780) 724-3829.

Crime Stoppers will pay up to $2,000 for information leading to the arrest of the person(s) responsible for this or any other crime. You do not have to reveal your identity and if your tip leads to an arrest you qualify for an award.

The continuation of last week's front page story on the Trans Canada Trail was inadvertently omitted from Page 2 of last week's paper. And now, here is "the rest of the story," with our apologies.

Council toured the trail to determine what improvements were needed and were very impressed with its potential.

It was Reeve Robert Bouchard's vision that if the track from St. Paul to Elk Point was ever abandoned, that the County would pursue extending the linear park through that region as well.

Bouchard said plans have been in the making for some time.

"In 1993, the (St. Paul) snowmobile club met with TrailNet. We had already purchased the Heinsburg to Elk Point right of way, but now we have a lot more to offer," he said.

As a municipality, Bouchard says the County has served RaiLink, the current owners of the Elk Point to Ashmont and Ashmont to Cold Lake track, with official notice of intention to buy the right of way from Elk Point to the County boundary, if the line is abandoned.

Bouchard and Bidulock met briefly with the Minister of Tourism and four MLAs in Bonnyville last week to discuss the trail.

The Carlton Trail, established in 1815, passed through this area and although Elk Point Historical Society treasurer Marvin Bjornstad said it is hard to tell the exact route from maps of early days, "we may be able to use this historical connection to access funds" for trail development such as signage. He noted that there is also a historical component to the railway route.

Correction

The winner of the Bicycle Parade category on Canada Day was Larissa Cochrane, not Larissa Ference as stated in last week's issue. Our apologies for the error.

The last word is the best!

By Deanna Easthope
FCSS Director

There is a story of a woman in a fancy luxury car who waited patiently in a crowded mall lot for a parking place to open up. She drove up and down between rows until finally she saw a man with a load of packages head for his car. She followed him and parked behind him, waiting while he opened his trunk and loaded it. Finally he got into his car and backed out. Just as she was preparing to pull forward into the space, a young man in a little sports car — coming from the opposite direction — turned in front of her, zipped into the space, got out of his car and started walking away. The woman was livid. She shouted from her big luxury car, "Hey, young man! I was waiting for that parking place."

The teenager responded, "Sorry, lady, but that's how it is when you're young and quick." She instantly put her car in gear, floorboarded it, and crashed into the sports car, crushing its right rear fender. Now it was the young man's turn to jump up and down, shouting, "What a re you doing?" The woman in the luxury car calmly responded, "Well, son, that's how it is when you're old and rich."

Most of the world's problems and conflicts could probably be resolved if, instead of retaliation and revenge, apologies were made all around. Or, in other words, the best way to get the last word is to apologize.

1999 is the International Year of the Older Person, A Society for All Ages. Now, from the story I have just related to you, do you think these two age groups were respecting each other? The story was an obvious example of non-acceptance.

After celebrating our Elk Point Canada day Celebrations with the theme of the Year of Older Persons, I have come to reflect on all the positive feelings I have experienced while being around "older persons." It seems like the "older person" is able to see the whole picture. What a marvellous ability. All us younger people need to do, is to take time and listen to them.

In our busy world of commitments, "time" seems to be something that is hard to find. However, as we take time to balance our lives, and especially during our "summer vacations,' it would probably be a good opportunity for all of us to look around us and find time to spend with the "older persons" in our lives.

Then, if we did, the story I told you would be changed... The teenager would say, "Oh, I am sorry for taking the spot you were waiting for. I'll back out and look for another so you could have this spot."

Yes, the best way to get the last word is to apologize and thus the best word is the last word.

By Rhonda Hansen
Club President

The rain did not keep the eager Elk Point Saddle Slickers 4-H Horse Club members from showing their stuff on July 3, 1999. Our Achievement Day was held at the Agriculture Barn and began shortly after 9 a.m. Rhonda Hansen and Joan Wheat led the 4-H Pledge. Jamie and Danielle Schnurer followed, reading "A 4-H Fable."

The first class of the day was Judging. All members completed an individual judging card placing and giving reasons for the placing of four horses. With a total of 34 classes following, the day was long, but fun. Members competed in three different levels (junior, intermediate and senior). Among the classes in which members participated were: Showmanship and Grooming, English Equitation and Pleasure, Western Equitation and Pleasure, Young Horse Showmanship and Pleasure, and a Parent/Child Class. The day also saw members competing in Trail, Western Riding, Reining, Barrel Racing, Pole Bending and the famous Ride-and-Run Race. A few members presented very impressive Free Style Reining patterns and the musical ride team representing the Saddle Slickers at 4-H Expo rode their pattern to Garth Brooks' "The Thunder Rolls" to show the members unable to go to Expo what earned the club a second place.

Announcer Shawna Campbell turned into Timer for the speed events and Joyce Larson handled the mike. The show secretaries, Marion Ryan and Gordon Larson, did an excellent job. Unable to ride in the day's classes, Chantelle Maas was Ring Master.

There were many winners by the time the show was over and everyone was ready to head home. There was a High Point and Reserve winner in each class. Points were awarded according to placing in each class. The members with the greatest number of points at the end of the day were awarded with titles of High Point or Reserve.

In the Senior division, Ashley Larson was High Point Champion and Jamie Schnurer was Reserve Champion, sponsored by Shamrock Valley Enterprises. Meggan Parker was Intermediate High Point and Joan Wheat was Intermediate Reserve Champion. Richland Oilfield Services sponsored the Intermediate awards. Don Anderson Trucking sponsored Junior High Point Champion which

TIC talk visits Dewberry

By Sherry Pelech
Tourist Information Clerk

One of the finest collections of antiquities, artifacts and memorabilia to be found anywhere, is right here in Elk Point in the Pioneer Museum. But last Tuesday, we made a trip to see another museum in the area — the Dewberry Valley Museum in Dewberry.

It's a relatively small collection, but very well displayed. Large glassed shelves hold an amazing assortment of native artifacts like arrow heads, spear heads, hammers, grinding tools, scraping tools and the like. The 'guesstimation' of the dates of these stone items may be a bit dubious, but there is no questioning their authenticity.

The museum has two unique displays. One is a replica of an early one-room-school house, complete with teacher's desk, students' desks, shelves holding the appropriate books, a wood stove, and a small organ with books of music suitable for young students. The other is an entire log cabin. Only one room, it is crammed with all the accoutrements of daily pioneer life. A little kitchen area with stove and cupboards, dishes, pots and pans hanging on the wall, table covered with old oilcloth, and a sleeping area with a beautiful metal bed, spread with handmade patchwork quilts. The floor is made from rough lumber and creaks alarmingly when you walk on it. The low ceiling beam and dark, gloomy interior makes you appreciate our lighter, roomier living quarters, but you can't help but admire such a compact and efficient lifestyle.

There are also shelves of tools and equipment used in daily pioneer life, items from the fur trade and from the North West Rebellion, and an assortment of stuffed birds and animals.

There is no charge for viewing this fine, little collection, but they do accept donations. And remember to sign the guest book.

Day Camps underway

By Melissa Easthope
Interpretive Staff

Hello from Fort George and Buckingham House! Now that the summer has begun, so have our Day Camps. Day Camps run from 1:00 to 5:00 every Tuesday and Thursday from now until August 26. So come out and pay us a visit.

This past week, the kids that attended the camps learned about two separate themes. On Tuesday, the kids learned what it was like to be an archeologist. They did a simulated dig in our dig box. They also went on a trip down to the river to find signs of different types of animals in the area. Once the animal tracks were found, the kids were then able to make casts of those prints and take them home for a souvenir at the end of the day. On Thursday the kids learned about Herbal Medicine. This involved a trip down the hiking path to learn what the Native people would use various trees and flowers for. The reward at the end of the trail was the patch of strawberries at Buckingham House. Then it was back to the Interpretive Centre to make our own recycled paper.

This week the Day Camps will learn about Live on the Plantation and how Mother Earth Provides.

What's cooking: cookbooks from around the world

By Karina Mitchell
Librarian

By now everybody has heard about the summer reading program, "Discover the World at Your Library" for ages 4 to 12, especially if you watched the parade and saw the Library's entry along with Northern Lights Library System and The Next Page Book Store. You may even have gotten a tattoo or a balloon! But what you may not know is that there is something for adults as well. In keeping with the global theme, the Library has received a collection of cookbooks from around the world.

There are videos on how to cook Mexican and Far Eastern food, recipes for flatbreads, focaccia and dark breads (in your bread machine!) and gourmet recipes from the East Coast. There are recipes, Thai, Middle Eastern and Russian food. I think I'm getting hungry now!

So if you cannot go on your dream vacation this year, try out some of the food instead. You can still discover the world... at your library.

I would like to say a big THANK YOU to a few people that helped out with our Parade entry: to NLLS for sharing their fan, to Alyssa Fry and Christina Moores for helping to make the banners that so beautifully adorned the van and to April Bresky, Cally Nelson, Nicole Labrie, Aaron Jurak, Christina Moores, Stephanie Swedgan and Joann Gadwa for all their running around and handing out the goodies. It was a great time and I appreciate your help!

New Books at the Library...

For Adults:

In The Flowering of the Soul: A Book of Prayers for Women, Lucinda Vardey gathers a selection of nearly a thousand prayers and thoughts about them, set down through the ages by women of many faiths.

Beyond the Great Snow Mountains brings together for the first time ever in one collection ten stories, previously unavailable, by Louis L'Amour.

When Robb MacDaniel comes into a little money, he uses it to go to law school. Upon graduation, he is accepted by an honorable firm and marries the daughter of the senior partner. All his dreams seem to be coming true, until his life takes a shocking turn that effects his family and reverberates into the next generation. Fortune's Hand by Belva Plain.

Young Adults:

The Yeerks have turned to genetic testing to find a substance that will eliminate free will in humans and speed up their invasion of Earth. Can Ax and the Animorphs stop them this time? There is only one way... The Experiment by K. A. Applegate.

Jeremy really likes Jessica, but will her reputation prevent them from even being friends? And what is Elizabeth doing with Connor? Maria wants to find out! You can too in Francine Pascal's If You Only Knew.

Library Calendar

August 9, Monday evening: The Friends of the Library have an evening Bingo. Sign up at the Library to work.

July and August, 1:30 - 3:00 p.m.: Discover the World at Your Library Summer Reading Program. Wednesdays: 8 to 12 year olds; Thursdays: 4 to 8 year olds. There is still time to register!

Summer Reading Program underway

Hello from the library. This is Carlen Mutch and I'm the Summer Reading Program Coordinator at the library this summer. I'm the one at the library with the hectic look in my eyes, running around looking for my book, my pen, my notes, etc. I also have a desk piled two feet high with everything from a parachute to cookies to stickers, but that's beside the point.

Anyway, the program started off on Tuesday with the older kids. This week the theme was travel, and after we looked for Waldo, we made stationery and envelopes to send to pen pals. Then we went outside and after chasing away some kids who claimed they were going to steal my string and spools of thread, had a few relay races. Then in for a snack and more games.

Then on Thursday I had the younger kids. Now on Tuesday I'd only had eight kids, but it turns our that three quarters of the kids in Elk Point from ages 4 to 8 decided to come to the library on Thursday. That day went slightly less great. First, the book that I had chosen to read made noises, but since all mechanical things can sense the most convenient time not to work, the kids had to supply the noise, much to the delight of the other library patrons. Then during crafts I had to run around making more postcards (my chosen craft) But we only had one set of tears, when one little girl thought that I had forgotten to give her a logbook. All in all, I think it was a success.

Next week we'll be discovering North and South America and hopefully I;ll be a little more prepared (if the monster living in the piles of junk on my desk doesn't get me first).

The wheels fall off the Sox cart

By Doug Bassett
Review Sports

Normally these guys are very laid back, goofing around before the game, tossing the ball and missing it, thinking about almost everything except the game. Normally, nothing usually fizzes on these guys, but something didn't feel right, on this day, call it a gut feeling, the team manager could sense it. The high that the Sox have been riding all season was about to come to an end. This past weekend in Wainwright the Sox did not fare well, or you could say, they did not field the ball well.

The umpires did not show up for the scheduled 10 a.m. game time, and the game was delayed for two hours while they found replacements. Wainwright not having the luxury of dugouts, the boys sat in the sizzling 30 degree heat from 9 a.m. until the game time at noon, then playing back to back games, the second one finishing at 6:30 p.m. That's 9 1/2 hours in the sun, and it's a wonder that the boys didn't get heat stroke.

But we can't make excuses for the way the boys played. They made some costly errors in the infield, and every time someone bobbled the ball, they were chirping at one another, and as the day got hotter, so did the tempers, not only for the players, but the coach and manager also. When the fielders are having a great game, the pitchers are confident and pitch well, but this can work in reverse, when the fielding isn't up to par, the pitchers start to lose it, give up and finally pack it in.

Nathan "Gunner" Mathews was up on the mound for the first game against Wainwright, but it was obvious right from the first inning when the infield allowed two errors and four runs scored, the Sox were in a losing battle. He lasted four innings. Wainwright was desperate, with only four wins thus far, they needed the win to guarantee a spot in the Provincial final. They came at the Sox with both barrels. The Sox are automatically in, but were also tied for first place after last weekend. After Mathews, Jon Yake came in to pitch, the game was not out of reach, not yet, anyway. Wainwright held on to a 5 to 3 lead to the top of the 7th, then the wheels fell off the cart again, more errors, Wainwright picking up four more runs, 9 to 3, the final.

Provincial Bound

The Midget Girls, for the first time in many years, will be going to the Provincial Final, this coming weekend, starting on Friday in Waskatenau. If you're around that area, stop in and cheer them on.

The Sox vs Brownfield. Aaron Hansen would be the pitcher to take the punishment this time. Same scenario, Brownfield even more desperate than Wainwright with only three wins up to this point. Fourth inning, 2 to 1 for Brownfield. Time for the big E, as in errors, three in one inning, Brownfield now leading 6 to 2. The Sox looked like they could start their own rally in the bottom of the sixth, when Jordan "Buhner" Bassett pulled the trigger, going over the wall at centre field and doing the slow trot around the bases while his teammates lined up at home to congratulate him. Hansen and Yaremkevich both doubled, but too many times the Sox were picked off trying to steal bases. IThe final 9 to 6 for Brownfield.

Sunday the heat was just as unbearable as the day before, but the Sox were relaxed, back to normal, dumping water on each other's heads to cool down. Greg "The Big Unit" Zarowny up on the mound, throwing as hard as he ever has, the Sox were still having trouble in the infield, but at least they weren't pointing fingers, blaming each other, it was a team effort. The third inning would be the bad one, two errors, four runs. Trailing 6 to 3 , bottom of the sixth, sooner or later your knew something would break. With Zarowny on base, Dustin "Bones" Yaremkevich laid down a beauty of a bunt. The bunt can be a powerful tool in baseball. A good bunt is almost impossible to field, and this guy has perfected the art of laying one down the third base line so that it just about stops dead in its tracks. This rattled Brownfield. The rally started. Zarowny, Yaremkevich, Croteau, Brown, and the two Mathews brothers all getting on base, and in to home. 9 to 6 for the Sox. Jon Yake the closer on the mound, bottom of the seventh, shut them down, Jonny Boy. Yes sir. The Sox win, the Sox win, and go home once more.

The round robins are almost over, with the exception of a few rainouts. Tonight on the Internet, Baseball Alberta will have the standings posted, last week the Sox were tied for first place, this week they could be in anywhere from second place to fifth or sixth. Next week we will know for sure who will come to the big show, the provincial finals, on July 23, 24 and 15, on Bassett Field, home of the Sox, right here in beautiful Elk Point, Alberta, Canada.

Bensmiller third in Calgary Stampede chuckwagons

After three nights of racing, Dewberry's Buddy Bensmiller is sitting third in the Calgary Stampede Rangeland Derby. His aggregate time of 3:50.06 is just over two seconds behind leader Kelly Sutherland, and just under two seconds behind his nearest rival, Jimmy Nevada. Ray Mitsuing, Grant Preecem Wayne Knight, Dennis McGillvery, Troy Dorchester, Luke Tournier and Gary Gorst round out the top ten.

A tragic accident has marred the race meet. Bill McEwen of Lloydminster was seriously injured in a backstretch pileup on the first night of racing, and passed away Sunday just before race time. Bensmiller is driving McEwen's rig, while Jimmy Nevada is driving for Ron David, who also sustained injuries in the accident.

Other area drivers competing in Calgary are Doug Irvine of Lindbergh and Bert Croteau of Bonnyville, both of whom have been plagued by penalties in the early days of the ten day meet.

Saddle Slickers Achievement Day

was awarded to Chelsea Schnurer and Junior Reserve Champion which went to Courtinee Bintz.

Winter Project judges Gail Havener and Sharleen Bintz said that all the winter projects were done with great quality and were difficult to judge. The Senior first and second placing was sponsored by ReMax. There was a tie for First Place Senior Winter Project between Ashley Larson and Rhonda Hansen. Jamie Schnurer received Second Place Senior Winter Project. Bailey's sponsored the Junior Winter Project Awards. Danielle Schnurer won First Place Junior Winter Project and Courtinee Bintz was Second Place Winter Project winner.

Maureen Ference, Hughie Krucik and Angie Sanregret took time to judge the Project Books turned in by club members. Senior Project Book Champion, sponsored by C.J. Petroleum, was awarded to RhondaHansen. Reserve Senior Project Book, sponsored by ReMax, was won by Ashley Larson. Tarsands sponsored both Intermediate winners. Intermediate Project Book Champion was Danielle Schnurer and Intermediate Reserve went to Joan Wheat. Courtinee Bintz was Junior Project Book Champion and sponsored by C.J. Petroleum. Chelsea Schnurer was Junior Project Book Reserve and sponsored by ReMax.

The year would have been a total flop without the parents. A special thank you to each of them for their dedication to not only us members, but to 4-H as a whole. Club leaders Daphne Schnurer and Donna Parker deserve recognition for their hard work over the last year. Joyce Larson helped us members with our riding abilities this year and for that we greatly thank her. When food was needed for any activity, Lorraine Hansen was kind enough to take on the task; from ordering food to delivering it where it was needed.

It was a fabulous year and the next event the Saddle Slickers will be attending is the Regional Horse Camp and Horse Show in early August. A safe trip is ordered for the traveling of Jamie Schnurer and Ashley Larson when they head for Texas with other 4-H members from Alberta.
